Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Monday 13 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Heavy rain for parts of England tomorrow.

This Evening and Tonight:
Mostly dry across eastern areas with some clear spells. Occasional rain affecting western parts, then some heavier outbreaks of rain, perhaps thundery, arriving across southern England.

Tuesday:
Outbreaks of heavy rain moving northeastwards across England. Turning warm and muggy as skies then brighten across southern England with some heavy, thundery showers developing. Sunny spells and showers elsewhere.

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Rain erratically clearing from eastern England on Wednesday. Generally fine until Friday when cloud, strengthening winds and some heavy rain move eastwards across the UK before clearing from the west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.